Explanation

Our Wholesale Market offers small and mid-scale North Carolina farmers a means of selling what they grow and advice on pricing, marketing, and safe food-handling practices. Our goal is to help hard-working farm families (especially beginning farmers, female farmers and farmers of color) make a decent living while providing nutritious, local food to schools and universities, local agencies and institutions, and grocery stores and other businesses. As part of our COVID response efforts, we used donated fresh food funds to cover some or all of the costs that nonprofit organizations and school systems would have incurred by purchasing food for their constituents during the pandemic. This enabled food to continue to flow to those who needed it while continuing to support farmers during a time of great need. We also sourced and prepared boxes of fresh, NC-grown food and related resources for distribution to families through our partnerships with various institutions, including healthcare providers, school systems, social services, and community-based organizations. This enabled food to continue to flow to those who needed it while continuing to support farmers during a time of great need.
